HAVANA, April 5.—The day of the world's heavyweight championship fight between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard broke with overcast skies and a cool wind blowing in from sea. When the sun rose it was behind a solid bank of clouds but as the day advanced blue patches of sky appeared bringing hope of fine weather to the thousands of men who had journeyed to the Maritana racetrack, 10 miles from Havana, where the fight was to be staged.

Neither the black champion nor the cowboy fighter changed over night optimistic forebodings of the outcome. Each man was sure he would win. Johnson said he was in good shape and didn't care if the fight was a hard one, as he was not going to let Willard's lackers worry him. Johnson said he would win if the fight went beyond 10 rounds. Willard himself asserted he was not in the least nervous.

Johnson prepared coolly to defend his title. His only indication of nervousness was over the exact moment Jack Curley and other backers of the fight would arrive at his headquarters with the $100,000 cash in the negro's contract. This very important event was scheduled at 11 o'clock. Johnson chatted and laughed with the men about him during his preparations for the trip to the ring as if he had not a care in the world. This supreme self-confidence is ruled as one of the champion's best assets, especially against a man of nervous temperament.

Willard retired early last night and declared this morning he had had a refreshing sleep. He was both to discuss his plan of campaign but said that he expected to take a good deal of punishment during the first 10 rounds, hoping to wear Johnson down and get a chance to land a knockout blow. Willard was confident that if he could land two or three rights on Johnson's head the fight would soon end. Willard said Johnson's ability as a boxer would give him an opportunity to make a better showing in the first rounds of the fight than he has in his ring career. Willard felt any discomfort from any blow on his body and he did not fear Johnson's jab. Willard seemed fit when he left for the track. The inflammation in his right eye from the splash of chloroform in the first round had not yet disappeared.

There has been little preliminary betting but there were indications this morning that watering would become more brisk as the day wore on. Almost everyone with money to place apparently waited for an eleventh hour shift in the odds in the hope of better terms. Johnson was favorite with the odds at 5 to 4 and 6 to 5. These were the figures obtained today at the Miramar Hotel, where the late arrivals from Havana and New Orleans docked before the fight.

Uncertainty as to Johnson's real condition and Willard's ability are the factors which have kept down the betting and there was as much speculation regarding these questions this morning as there was a week ago. It is Johnson's skill and experience against Willard's youth, the experts said.

Jack Welsh, the referee, said he anticipated no trouble refereeing the match. "There will be no technical champion if I can help it. The winner will have to earn his laurels fairly. I have talked the rules over with the fighters and the referee and we are expected of them."

Before daybreak crowds of natives, secure in the belief and hope that Johnson would retain his title, began pouring into the city. The streets are filled with throngs and the training quarters of the fighters were the center of admiring crowds. Hours before the two giants stepped into the ring the stands were black with spectators. They went to the track by automobile, by trolley, in every available vehicle in Havana and on foot.

President Menéndez and his cabinet, the congress of Cuba, foreign ministers and hundreds of women were in the audience. The electric lines were unable to handle the crowds and many walked.

The fight by rounds follows:

ROUND ONE—Johnson landed a right on Willard's jaw, repeated uppercut right on Willard's jaw. The latter was very nervous. Johnson was laughing. Willard drove two lefts to the negro's body.

ROUND THREE—After much feinting Willard missed a right swing and both laughed. Johnson rushed and

ROUND FIVE—Johnson poked a right left and right to Willard's face. The referee ordered the fighters to break from a clinch. The negro smashed hard to Willard's ribs and drove three blows to the cowboy's stomach. The champion punched Willard to the ropes, scoring punches to the head and body. Willard was badly distressed. The challenger was rattled and boxed like an amateur.

ROUND SIX—The referee stepped in at the opening of the round. He beat Willard to the ropes. On the breaks Johnson landed a smash to the cowboy's stomach. The negro rubbed Willard's cut lip at every opportunity. The negro landed three crushing blows to Willard's unprotected body. At the bell Johnson was hammering hard at Willard's body. The cowboy's left cheek was cut.

ROUND SEVEN—Johnson was using every artifice to force the fighting. He rushed Willard to the ropes, slugging with both hands repeatedly. Willard's long left temporarily blinded the negro's left eye. Johnson came back with a series of swings to Willard's body. It was a clean fight so far.

ROUND EIGHT—Willard was gaining confidence and tried his hand at forcing the pace. Johnson accepted his challenge. The punches battered each other across the ring, the negro having the better of it. Willard landed on Johnson's mouth. Then Johnson upped Willard over. The negro landed a right on Johnson's jaw and landed Johnson on the jaw. The round ended with the negro swinging blows to Willard's head.

ROUND NINE—Willard assumed the offensive. Johnson was on the defensive. Johnson's nose is bleeding. The champion was landing frequently but his blows seemed to lack power. Amid the feinting the crowd started. "Bill the black boy" Johnson immediately started a rally by driving three hard blows to Willard's stomach. A left by Willard started the negro's mouth bleeding. The latter plugged the white man to the ropes.

Up to the sixteenth round Johnson had the better of the argument. When the going rang on the sixteenth he had Willard battered and bleeding. The men are fighting in the middle of the ring, attacking occasionally the negro's jaw. Willard is crying against the ropes. Frequently they clinched.

Frequent predictions had been made that the fight would be a draw. It could last past the 15th round, but the white hope failed to show strength after that point. On the other hand, Johnson apparently had the better of the argument.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 5.—The moving band of Bulgarians driven out of Serbia after its sudden raid has penetrated Greece at three points according to Salonica dispatches. The English press sees in this the possibility of developments which may mean a change in the Balkan situation. Advice reaching London from Rome, however, asserts that Bulgaria has agreed to give full satisfaction to Serbia. It is probable that the only result will be to draw from Bulgaria a definite statement as to the policy she proposes to pursue. All the Balkan nations as well as Italy are awaiting the outcome with interest. Meanwhile Greece is massing troops along Bulgaria and reserves, according to advice from Salonica, have received orders to join the colors. In the eyes of the allies, Germany, Austria and Turkey, these recent developments are blamed upon German intrigue.

The Carpathian front is the quarter in which a decision of first importance is expected. The Russian advance is expected to be a decisive one. The Russian advance is expected to be a decisive one. The Russian advance is expected to be a decisive one.

EASTER IN THE CHURCHES

Many services in the different churches yesterday attracted large congregations. In many churches the service was held in the afternoon and a number of persons remained standing. The services were beautiful and impressive and the churches were fragrant with flowers. The church choir and the Sunday school were in charge and appropriate services were delivered by the pastors.

At the Trinity Lutheran church a conference of 11 of its members was held in the church. In addition to the members who were taken into the church, the number of communicants was the largest in the history of the church. The total offering was $411.50, of which $100.00 was for the Sunday school offering.

The Sunday school had an attendance of 194. Rev. L. L. Burgess, the pastor, delivered an eloquent sermon. In the evening the Easter services, in charge of the children, were attended by an unusually large congregation. and orchestra, Easter songs and recitations by the children, were rendered. Last evening Dr. J. L. H. Dier, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church, preached.

Services at the Methodist Protestant church both morning and evening were largely attended. A large and appreciative audience heard the rendition of an Easter cantata, "From Death to Life," given by the choir of the First United Presbyterian church last night. The choir was under the direction of R. L. Weir. The soloists were Miss Margaret Davies Newcomer, Miss Rose Warner, Miss Mabel Graft, Miss W. L. Eberhart, H. H. Nelson and R. E. Weir. Miss H. L. ## Positive Relief For Constipation

The progress of modern medical science is, perhaps, no more forcefully evident than in the simplifying of many of the old time remedies of past generations. For instance, the harsh cathartics and violent purgatives used by our forefathers to relieve constipation are now known to be not only unnecessary but really harmful. Constipation can be more effectively relieved without the discomfort and pain these old-time remedies occasion.

A combination of simple laxative herbs with persin, sold in drug stores under the name of "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is most effective, yet mild and pleasant. It is absolutely free from opiates and is equally as desirable a remedy for the tiniest babe as for rugged manhood. A free trial tube can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 152 Washington St., Monticello, N.Y.

NEW STYLES ARE ON DISPLAY

Air is Chilly, but Bright Sunshine
Lures Hundreds Into the Open and the Promenade is Popular; Finest
Easter Sunday in Many Years.

Connellsville's annual Easter parade was unmarred yesterday. The weather was the best that has prevailed in years, despite the fact that the east wind in the grip of a serious storm, the weather here was ideal. Although the air was a little cool for comfort, it was offset by the bright sun which lured hundreds into the open and a special military band by a special raincoat.

It was almost a perfect day, certainly the finest Easter that has been given this city in many years. Especially for the children, the parade was a treat. The children, who were in the front of the parade, were in the front of the parade, and the children, who were in the front of the parade, were in the front of the parade.

More in the parade were the children, who were in the front of the parade, and the children, who were in the front of the parade, were in the front of the parade.

Mrs. Josephine Pagan, 72 years old, a resident of Connellsville, died at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Sarah Barnhart on West Fifth street. A week following her late illness she was removed from the home of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Dixon, who was also ill at her home in East Main street to the home of Mrs. Barnhart, mother-in-law of Frank Pagan, a son of the deceased. ## SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

It Little Stomach is Sour,
Liver Torpid or Bowels
Clogged.

Mothers can rest easy after giving California Syrup of Figs, because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well-played child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become irritable, peevish, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "Fruit Laxative." Children love it, and it can't cause injury. No difference what all your little one is full of, cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach troubles, but for the time being, a gentle "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Write of counterfeits of the syrup. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." It is the only one that has a "Hand Back with Contentment" and other big signs.

RESINOL. Resinol is a powerful skin cleanser and is used for a variety of skin conditions. It is a powerful skin cleanser and is used for a variety of skin conditions.

PETEY DINK—Joke and Not the Lunch Is the Excess Baggage.

By C. A. Voight.

BUTTERFLIES ON FROCKS.

Combined in Many Designs For Ornamenting Spring Gowns.

SPRING LINEN DRESS.

The butterfly motif is used effectively in the decoration of many of the models shown for spring and summer. The pretty frock of white cotton with a hand embroidered design in butterflies and scrolls. The skirt has the smart poke skirt in this case. There is a high fitted collar, with a velvet band to secure it to the neck. The circle is of black velvet ribbon.

MILITARY HATS.

Everybody is wearing them and looking just as smart and pretty.

Would you be in fashion? Then adopt a hat which in shape at least resembles one worn by some person in military service in the armies of Europe.

It need not be a general officer. It is the private or the nurse who gets the head covering which is famous. These hats must be of the sort which best become a feminine face not too old for small hats, which are only convincing when partly posed a trifle toward one ear.

Among the new millinery there is not a model exactly like Tommy Atkins', but there is a tiny affair which covers no more of the hair than does his of scarlet cloth. Like the majority of the military hats not designed for service at the front, this one is of black velvet. A broad added never betrays her as flatly against the crown that its presence would be overlooked but for an edging of narrow silver ribbon. Tiny tassels in silver or gold are new among military trappings, but they are not a surprise, for they accord perfectly with the tinsel braids and cordings.

Homemade Icebox.

Few people know that a very good icebox for summer use can be made by placing a small box inside a larger one and filling the space between with sawdust. Set on blocks, bore a hole in bottom of both. If kept tightly closed, twenty pounds of ice will keep in this box three or four days.

Air and Exercise.

Air is absolutely essential to the well-being of every child. The mother should make it a part of her regular duties to see that her child has at least two hours' outdoor exercise every day. If school is over at 3 the child can come in at 5 to prepare his or her lessons for the following day.

SERVICE MARKS AWARDED

B. & O. Men to Wear Stars and Bars on Summer Uniforms.

When the summer suits are donned this season by the uniformed forces of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, the passenger trainmen, station employees and others who come in direct contact with the public will be decorated by the management with badges of honor upon the basis of length of service and as an evidence that the company venerates them for the years spent in its employ. The coat sleeves of the uniforms will be decorated with gold bars and stars, the latter signifying five years' service and the stars twenty-five years with the road.

This plan of the Baltimore & Ohio of decorating its uniformed employees carries out along broad lines the principle of railroad companies of extending pass privileges to employees and their families on the basis of years of service, and it is the purpose in supplementing the past regulation to extend proper recognition to its men so that the public may form an idea as to the training they have had as its servants.

Coal Company Organized. The Erie Coal & Coke Company has been organized and its incorporation will be made to the governor for a charter. The stockholders named are John H. Rice, H. C. Gilpin and R. M. Smith, Warren. The company owns about 20 acres of coal at Smithfield, formerly the Wharton plant.

THE SOISSON.

"THE MASTER KEY" TODAY.

The last episode of "The Master Key" will be shown at the Soisson Theatre today. The play has been very interesting through and the last of the series explains everything. "The next serial to be run is the 'Black Box Mystery' and the opening chapters are great. The noted opera tenor, Jeff de Angeles, is the star in a two reel comedy, 'The Side of a Soldier.' The new drama, 'All for Peck,' deals with the railroad. The Sterling comedy, 'Raindrops and Girls' is a grand laugh. Tomorrow, the beautiful musical actress, Lydia Burill, will appear in the excellent live reel drama, 'Sons of Bohemia.' It is a splendid play, the ladies all like. "BRINGING UP FATHER."

"Bringing Up Father," the reigning cartoon series of the newspaper world by George McManis, has been the nucleus of a new musical comedy, produced under the direction of Gus Hill, who seems to be about the only sure fire successful cartoon producer at present. "We've got to hand it to Gus. McManis was wise to place his 'Bringing Up Father' in Hill's hands, which is next to having his hand on a million dollar real dollar. The lowest bid for musical comedy honors, secured an entry of a goodly sum of money for Gus Hill had not yet reached the cross roads where producers usually turn back. He will make 'Bringing Up Father' more magnificent than anything he has ever produced. A car load of scenery and electrical effects are a very necessary adjunct to a good play, so is a good book and a catchy music. Incidentally a few regular actors. A car load of scenery is probably the most valuable asset to a play of that kind and Mr. Hill has the car load, and it's a fullman, too.

The real novelty in "Bringing Up Father" is found in the fact that the cast was selected entirely from vaudeville performers. Indeed the entire play is simply an elongated vaudeville bill, with pretty scenic environments

THE COLONIAL.

"THE DANCING GIRL." At the Colonial Theatre Florence Fred Tuesday makes her first appearance in motion pictures in a thrilling two-part film version of Henry Arthur Jones' dramatic triumph, "The Dancing Girl," released on the Paramount program and produced by the Famous Players-Lasker Company.

"The Dancing Girl" tells a peculiar but every-day story of human interest. The girl in question is a young Quakeress whom the Duke of Guineberry aids in making a famous dancer. He refuses to marry her in the beginning of their intimacy, and in turn thrown down by her when all her resources are gone. Her father, who has come in search of her, finds her at a reception given by the duke, and on learning the truth, vehemently denounces and curses her.

Florence Reed's initial screen portrayal entitles her to serious consideration as one of the greatest motion picture actresses in the history of the film. Eugene Orsonide, as the duke, plays his part with refinement and feeling, and never loses the sympathy of the audience. His is a most pulsating and intelligent portrayal. As Duquenne's stern and rich old father, Walter Hough presents a character of dramatic impressiveness with skill and conviction. A very rare gem in the motion picture world.

The mounting of a picture is superb, and the music is utilized for the reception scene is the most natural and uniform picture of a society event seen on the screen in many a year. It is indeed a picture worthy of even the Famous Players.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved. Why suffer from rheumatism when relief may be had at so small a cost? Mrs. Elmer Hatch, Peru, Ind., writes, 'I have been subject to attacks of rheumatism for years. Chamberlain's Liniment always relieves me immediately, and I take pleasure in recommending it to others.' 25 and 50-cent bottles. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.
